PROMPT SERVICE BY RED CROSS IN KOREAN WAR

"The American people, particularly families of men in the Armed Forces, can be assured that the Red Cross is on the job in Korea and that many volunteers are already at work here at home. General George Marshall, president of the National Red Cross, said today.

Four Californians are among Red Cross workers already in Korea or enroute to serve with the troops there. These are the contacts which enable local Home Service Departments of Red Cross to form an effective link between men in service and their families at home.

The present war situation has stepped up activity of the San Mateo County Chapter's Home Service Department, according to J. Ed. McClellan, Home Service Chairman. Two weeks ago there was a radio newscast stating Marines ere leaving Camp Pendleton for the war zone. Before the program was over, a call came in to Mrs. Constance Cunningham, Home Service Director, from a local woman who had not heard from her son for two weeks. She was frantic. Had Johnny left? Before the evening was over, through the Field Director at Camp Pendleton, arrangements were made to have the boy, who was still in the United States, talk to his mother by telephone.

A Navy enlisted man was sent out on short notice, leaving his wife and three children with absolutely no money. Red Cross advanced a loan to tide her over until arrangements could be made for her to receive her allotment.

A naval officer planned to bring his wife and three day-old baby home to San Mateo from Oak Knoll Naval Hospital. Suddenly he was shipped out to join the Japanese air lift. The wife and baby had no way to get home and no money. Motor Service and Home Service combined to help out. Motor Service furnished transportation to mother and child and Home Service advanced money for necessities until the regular allotment arrived.

Every day brings new problems and responsibilities and Red Cross is ready and willing to help.

BRISBANE TUNNEL

So you think the State Highway Commission has treated the people of San Mateo County shabbily. Well, it looks that way now, but when the new express freeway is completed it would look foolish to have a six-lane highway leading to the town of Brisbane.

My suggestion, as stated in a previous letter, to you is as follows:

First, the biggest bottleneck is where the cars and trucks make left-hand turns at Brisbane. To cure this, utilize the tunnel under the hill north of the Brisbane intersection for traffic in and out of Brisbane, the highway department could lease the land for a few years until the express highway was built.

This tunnel is being used by sand and gravel trucks now and is probably only one lane wide but as the traffic through it would be relatively light, this in my opinion would not be a handicap.

—Charles Wekking.

DONATIONS NEEDED

Strawhats and playing cards are badly needed for patients at the Palo Alto Vcterans Hospital according to Mrs. Wencel Bartosch, Production and Supply Chairman for the San Mateo County Chapter, American Red Cross.

The hats are needed for men patients who work about the grounds of the hospital. They should be clean and in good condition.

Playing cards should be full decks including the jokers if possible. Both hats and cards may be delivered to the Red Cross Chapter House at 1449 Bellevue Ave., Burlingame.

"HOARDING" — The primary discussion between housewives, newspapers and businessmen, bears a thought or two here.

Buying, for the homemaker, is always a little heavy before school begins and canning is a big feature, too.

Facing a possible shortage of sugar at this time upsets the rhythm of a womans' summer work.

The Korean episode has, perhaps stimulated buying, that altho needed has been put off until a better time the big merchants were not getting the turnover of merchandise at its outrageous post war prices they had hoped would hold up. They ave been staying open late, this year and offering goods that has given the little man's pocketbook a little break. Coaxing the wary dollar with worth while bargains.

People have been tied up with hidden payments on cars, homes and re-newed equipment, the cost of these so high there seems barely enough for any other expenditures.

So, scaring the greedy sheep people into heavy and extra buying was a deal, manipulated cleverly by people well trained in the art of selling.

How many thousands would sell their country down the river to keep their own creature comforts secure.

What happens if we are bombed or evacuated? You can't take it with you!

Imagine the audicrous picture of a hoarder, staggering along Bayshore Blvd. on her way to Texas with all the coffee, tires, nylons, sheets and foodstuffs wrapped in bedsheet and piggy backed - wheelbarrows come scarce these days to tide over a period of discomfort.

It's a good thought and while preparing this delicious dish for supper to-nite, think of the man who is free because he has little to lose and is in control of that and is happy, rather than the man who has so much it controlls his freedom and he is tied to that until death does part him from his cares and penates.

P. S. Those two words are Greek and signify the Household Gods.

THE SHARK. DERBY

The 1950 Shark Derby, the only annual shark fishing competition in the United States, and one of the West's most colorful sporting events, will be held on Sunday, September 17, from 8:00 a. m. to 3:00 p. m. at Coyote Point, San Mateo.

More than $1500 in merchandise prizes will be awarded to those who bring in the heaviest sharks and the greatest number of sharks by the San Mateo Lions Club and the Coyote Point Yacht Club, co-sponsors of the derby, which is now in its fourth year.

There are no entry or registration fees. Anyone can compete by appearing at Coyote Point, which is thirteen miles south of San Francisco on the Bayshore Highway, on the day of the event and signing up with Shark Derby officials.

The purpose of the event is to encourage greater participation in wholesome outdoor recreational activities, particularly among youngsters.

Included in the day's program will be thrilling exhibitions of water - skiing, expert fly-casting, small boat racing and aviation demonstrations.

Picturesque ceremonies will climax the Shark Derby when King Neptune, attended by lovely mermaids and nymphs in daring attire, arises out of the waters of San Francisco Bay off Coyote Point and crowns the winning anglers Kingfisher, Queenfisher Princefisher and Princessfisher.

The Shark Derby has attracted national attention in previous years Last year, 20,000 spectators gathered to watch 1247 fishermen, many of them under sixteen years of age, bring in 2163 sharks weighing approximately four tons. This broke all records. In 1948, President Harry S. Truman registered as the number one entry and acepted the title of 'Honorary Kingfisher."

Shark Derby officials state that sharks caught in the bay are of the predatory and not of the man-eating variety and prey on young game and food fish.

If a fisherman catches a "Galeorhinus zyopterus," more commonly called the "soupfin" shark, he must throw it back in after showing it to State Fish and game representatives, who take notes and tag it. The liver of the "soupfin" is of great medical value, and efforts are being made to conserve this type of shark. Other types of sharks which can be caught and may be kept by the anglers are "Leopard," "Smooth - hound," "Dogfish" and "Six-gill."

Complete fishing supplies will be provided at Coyote Point harbor on the day of the event. Plenty of bait, fishing rods, and fishing licenses will be available. Fishermen can register upon arrival. Licenses are required for all persons over 16. Fish may be caught anywhere in the bay, from boats, docks or from the shore. An aerial bomb will be fired at 8:00 a. m. to start the fishing and, again, at 3 p. m. to signal the end of the com-

PROBE MAN'S TALE OF ATTACK BY 3 WOMEN

The sheriff's office today was investigating the story of a Brisbane bar operator that he was attacked and mutilated by three women on the evening of July 23.

The man, George Parigien, 52, of 468 Kings Rd., Brisbane, is in Community Hospital. The hospital reported that he had been partially emasculated. The sheriff's office tentatively listed the case under mayhem.

Discrepancies in the man's story led to the investigation by Deputy Sheriff Frank Marlowe.

Partigien at various times claimed the assault had been performed by four women, three women and two men. One of them he described as a "big, tall red-blonde."

Parigien, partner in the Visa-valley Social Club, Brisbane, was found lying in a shack at the back of the club by John Chapman, 765 Humboldt Rd., Brisbane, the bartender.

At first Parigien told Brisbane Police Officer Dan Case that he had a nosebleed. He later amended the story to emasculation.

According to Deputies Robert Cole and Jack Hosford, Parigien, father of five children, is a partner in the club.

Chapman's son, Jess, 105 Visitacion Avenue, a part-time bartender, said he saw Parigien go behind the bar at 8 o'clock, get his safety razor and a bottle of pop, and go into the back room to shave.

In addition to the razor blade, the officers found Parigien's knife and the razor blade had blood on them.

Parigien, apparently suffering from shock, told officers he had met three women in another bar, and had drunk some liquor with them.

He claimed the liquor probably had "knockout" drops in it.

DISASTER SET-UP OF THE LOCAL RED CROSS

Plans for augmenting the present disaster setup of the local Red Cross to a point where it will be adequate in case of a war disaster in the Bay area were discussed recently at a meeting in the Chapter house in Burlingame. R. C. Pitcairn and J. Howard Walzer, co-chairman of Disaster Preparedness for the San Mateo County Red Cross, called the meet to consider facts now available. A directive from the National Security Resources Board states in part —"The American National Red Cross has agreed to assist to the extent of its ability in—a program of civil defense in:

1. Training in First Aid
2. Training in Home Nursing and Nurses Aides
3. Provision of food, clothing and temporary shelter on a mass care basis during an emergency period.
4. Participation in a war-time nation-wide blood program.
5. Making available the Chapter volunteers and resources for participation in civil defense activities.

Shelter, food, clothing and transportation were the topics on the agenda. "I wish to stress the fact, both to you here and to the general public," Pitcairn said, "that Red Cross cannot take the initiative in civil defense or in a war disaster. That responsibility belongs to the government Our business is to be organized and ready to assist in any emergency." In case of a disaster, the Red Cross through H. C. Hall, Shelter Chairman, has arrangements to use all elementary and high schools in the Chapter area, the Cow Palace, Fiesta Building, and Tanforan and Bay Meadows Race Tracks. A ten percent evacuation of San Francisco to the Peninsula would mean caring for 70,000 refugees. It was decided to secure additional housing facilities in churches, wommen's clubs, lodge halls, etc. Figures are being compiled by Hall on the number of refugees who could be adequately cared for under existing conditions. Because of the 19 scattered communities in the Chapter area, and the probability that centers of population would be cut off from one another, it was deemed advisable to set up a separate disaster unit in each community, equipped to handle shelter, food and clothing. Many more volunteers are urgently needed to serve on these committees. As soon as key personnel in each community are appointed their names will be published. Anyone wishing to serve may then contact the head of his local unit. Each unit will have a police officer, fireman, nurse, doctor and chairmen for varidus services. This unit would thus be able to offer its services so its local government in an emergency. Food plans,, as outlined by John W. Leahy, Food Chairman, include arrangements to use stocks of all food stores and facilities of all restaurants in the area.
available sources. Items would be distributed from prepared central headquarters in quantities requested by clothing chairmen of the various units.

GARDEN CLUB IN BRISBANE

As "The Child Is Father of the Man," so is the Parent Teacher Association often the "mother" of many groups and interests.

An illustration is that of the Brisbane Garden Club. This organization originated from a PTA secondary adult education class in the arrangement and decoration of flowers in the home and garden, and was conducted in the Brisbane unit in 1947. So interesting did the class prove that at its termination, the members formed a garden club to continue their studies.

Meeting monthly, the members include in their studies the sharing of plants, visits to nurseries, and the viewing of rare plants. One of the club's members, Mrs. Wilma Schultz, was a student of horticulture. Another, Mrs. Agnes Whitson, as a member of the American Forestry Association, shares with her co-workers material on the advancement and conservation of forests.

Charter members include three Brisbane PTA past presidents: Mrs. Lena Gull, Mrs. Whitson, and Mrs. Byron Jensen, under whose term of office the adult education class was given and who is now president of Jefferson Union High School unit. Another past president, Mrs. Daisy Todd, recently joined.

Other members are Mrs. Janice Douglas, who conducted the class, Mesdames Ethel Nail, Martha Adkisson, Freda Pistohl, Barbara Sullivan, Elsie Mooers and Gloria Wipprecht.

The club works in close co-operation with the Brisbane PTA, arranging its floral decorations and making corsages.

POLICE CHIEF PAUL SCHMIDT AND DORIS MATHISEN WED

Arthur C. Mathisen escorted his daughter, Doris Jean to the altar of Our Lady of the Way Side Church in Woodside, when she became the bride of Paul Samuel Schmidt, chief of police of Broadmoor, Sunday, afternoon, 2 p. m., July 30th.

The Rev. Father John Meehan performed the double ring ceremony before an altar banked with white stock.

The bride's gown was of white satin fashioned with a lace yoke and lace sleeves. The neckline was outlined with an inset of pearl beaded roses and inserts of lace accented the skirt and the four yard train. Her full length veil was decorated with a large lace heart on the train and held n place by a sweetheart shaped headpiece of pearls. She carried a boquet of white roses centered with a white orchid.

Dora Jean Mathisen was her twin sister's maid of honor, while Mrs. Frederick Schmidt of Brisbane, the bridegroom's sister-in law, and Jean Newton of Woodside were bridesmaids.

The honor maid's gown was of green net over green taffeta with a small green net bolero. A short veil was attached to her matching juliet cap and she carried a boquet of red roses. The bridesmaids' frocks were made like that of the honor maid in purple net over purple taffeta. They each carried yellow roses.

Frederick Schmidt was his brother's best man, and another brother Henry Schmidt, served as an usher along with Carlos Villobos of Brisbane.

Some 200 friends of the newlyweds gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mathisen in Woodside for a reception following the wedding ceremony. The receiving line formed in the garden and was flanked by two large vases of white gladioli.

A buffet luncheon was served with accessories before the newlyweds left for Canada and Lake Louise. They have a new home in Broadmoor awaiting their return.

The Mathisens are one of the oldest families in Woodside area and are very well known.

SCHOOL SCRIPT

A rare advantage is given children who attend Brisbane Elementary School for they have the opportunity of participating in a glee club and a band. It is not every school which offers this.

An interesting article by Dr. Richmond Barbour appears in the May issue of the California Parent Teacher in which he elucidates on the benefits of musical training. According to the doctor, the most important advantage to the child is being able to release emotional tensions which a child would ordinary stifle. Music is an excellent way to release these stored up feelings. Through the process of gradually acquiring a difficult skill, some self-discipline of self-control emerges. Maintaining that music offers a permanent enrichment to the iives of our children, this authority believes that even if they are not sufficiently talented to become performers themselves, the fact that they have participated gives them an understanding of music. Lastly, Dr. Barbour is convinced that music enriches family life and it is certainly true that our families of today more than ever need unity which the enjoyment music brings.

School bells will ring out September 11th. If your child is going to be attending school for the first time be sure to have a copy of his birth certificate. This is required upon enrollment. Watch your papers for the announcement of kidergarten registration date and further school information.

PURCELL TO ASK FUNDS

The Bayshore Highway "bottleneck" just south of San Francisco maw be widened to six lanes after all, State Public Works Director Charles Purcell declared recently.

The "bottleneck" is a four-lane stretch running from San Francisco to the beginning of the six-lane, divided Bayshore Freeway at South San Francisco.

The widening project was cancelled last week for lack of funds. Purcell said a $350,000 allocation for the project was proposed at the State Highway Commission meeting on July 27.

San Mateo County Supervisors had labeled the 3.4 - mile - long stretch a bottleneck.
